BRICKS AND MORTAR.

Interesting Statement Showing the Building Operations During the Past Season.

They Largely Exceed Those of Any Previous Year-Other Improvements.

During the building season which has practically closed it has been frequently asserted that greater activity had been displayed than had been seen here for years, and the large number of new buildings erected was justly taken as an evidence of the demand for such buildings and the enterprise of those by whom they were erected. The character of the houses built has also been noticeable, some of them being large and commodious and elab-orate both in architecture and interior finish. There have also been erected a large number of moderate-sized houses, for which there is great demand. In fact, a prominent real estate dealer said to a REPURLICAN reporter yesterday: "What is especially needed in this city is a class of especially needed in this city is a class of houses, say of seven or eight rooms, containing all modern improvements, with an attractive exterior, which can be rented for from $20 to $30 per month. Now, to build such houses and get the proper interest on your money one must put them upon comparatively cheap ground, and the problem is to find the proper leadilities in which to build houses of proper localities in which to build houses of this character.' this character."

According to the records of the inspector of buildings, there were issued from the first of January last to Sept. 1, at which time the of January last to Sept. 1 at which time the building for this year practically ouded, permits for the erection of 536 brick and 76 frame dwellings at a total valuation of $1, $72,957. Besides these, there were built 2 apartment houses, 1 college, 2 churches, and

It stores.
The following table, obtained from the office of the building inspector, shows in de-tant the extent and character of the building operations during the period already referred to, and also the total value of the improve-

This sum does not in reality show the value of the building operations, for it only represents the amount estimated for before the buildings were started, and hardly any have kept within those figures. After a house gets under roof there are many changes that are suggested and made, so that in the opinion of Mr. Brady, the assistant inspector of buildings, at least one-third should be added to this sum, which would make $3,433,061 as the total value of the building that has taken place from July 1 to Sept. 1.

The figures given in the tabulated statement exceed the total value of the permits for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1882, by over $100,000, although they only cover a period of eight months, which proves the correctness of the assertion so frequently made in The Republican that the activity during the past building season was greater than ever before.

This statement does not include the school buildings creeted by the district government, five in number, two of which are already occupied and the remaining three will be finished by the first of December. The total value of these, including the sites, is $120,000. From conversations held yesterday by a REPUBLICAN reporter with several Washing-ton brick manufacturers it appears that the brick making season just closing was the most successful ever known here. During previous years it was the custom of builders to order their fine bricks from other cities, but the action of the Washington brick makers but the action of the Washington brick makers in purchasing improved and costly machinery has enable them to manufacture between fifty and sixty different styles and shapes of fine and pressed brick, and has also given them complete control of the local trade. The fine bricks were heretofore furnished by Baltibricks were heretofore furnished by Balti-more, Philadelphia, New York, and several New Jersey towns. Last summer the impor-tation from northern sources was insignifi-cant. The brick yards here employ-en an average between thirty and fifty workmen. Their daily capacity is ap-proximately from 75,000 to 100,000 bricks. Employment is thus given to hundreds of in-dustrious colored and white families, and as white families, and as a result of such employment houses and im-proved neighborhoods have sprung up in sparsely settled and undesirable localities. causing contiguous real estate to become more valuable. Clay for the manufacture of bricks, pressed and ordinary, is now taken from Arlington heights, Virginia, the eastern part of South Washington, and certain locali-ties in East Washington. The peculiar clay, which resembles castile scap, as described in THE REPUBLICAN some time ago, was found to be an excellent material for the manufacture of pressed and ornamental bricks. This clay abounds in the vicinity of the old Car-roll Mansion. The Washington manufactures premeditate increasing their facilities during the approaching winter in anticipation of the renewed building boom next season. BUILDING NOTES. The Sunday school and class rooms of Mc-Kendre Methodist Episcopal church have been renovated and refitted in a very nice manner. The main Sunday school room has been frescoed in blending tints, the walls colored, and the apartments generally re-freshed. The six class rooms presented a clean and fresh appearance. They have been finished in oak with walnut trimmings, and the ceilings beautifully frescoed. The church front has also been painted, and new carpets added throughout, giving the whole a cheer-ful appearance. The improved rooms will be ful appearance. The improved rooms will be occupied, for the first time since their renovation, to morrow.

The exterior work of the east addition to the Smithsonian institution building is nearly completed. The roof will be put on and interior work began before the appear-ance of cold weather. The brown stone used so nearly resembles that of the main edifice that it cannot be distinguished apart. Many visitors believe that the work on the east wing is merely repair work. An increased force of workmen are now engaged. The handsome row of commission houses on B street, between Ninth and Tenth streets northwest are nearly completed. They will be ready for occupancy before Christmas. Mr. M. H. Robinson has beautified and entirely remodeled his new quarters, No. 204 Third street southeast. Mr. J. H. Edelin is about to commence a handsome two story press brick front dwelling on Fourth, between East Capitol and A streets southeast, for Mr. W. Burris, to cost about The office and residence of the superintendent of Congressional cemetery has been handsomely painted and papered.

Lost Faith in Physicians.

Why is it that so many persons use pro-prietary medicines, or patent medicines, as they are commonly called? Is it because people lose faith in their physicians? Well, this is, no doubt, frequently the case. There are innumerable instances where cures have been effected by Scovill's Sarsaparilla or troop and any Lyve Sysue for all diseases of BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP for all diseases of the blood when they had been given over by their physicians. It is one of the best reme-dies ever offered to the public, and, as it is prepared with the greatest care as a specific for certain diseases, it is no wonder that it should be more effectual than hastily written and carelessly prepared prescriptions made by incompetent physicians. Take Scovill's BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP for all disorders arising from impure blood. It is indersed by leading professional men, as well as by eminent physicians and others. Try it.

Disposed to Be Thankful. To the Editor.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 .- I trust Linay not he asking too much when I request these few lines, for meritorious action calls for more than passing notice. To-day the walls of our house caught fire from the flue, and the propcrty was saved by the prompt arrival and the quick work of the fire department. Although the hose were turned on, not a window was broken, and although half the things were threwn to the sidewalk nothing was lost, and scarcely anything broken. The policemen and firemen and neighbors could not have done more or better had their own homes done more or better had their own homes been on fire. As a citizen of the district I feel proud of our police force and fire department, and shall ever be under lasting obligation to them. If their work of to-day be a sample, no city can have a better police force or more efficient firemen. Respectfully,

THE COMMISSIONERS.

Current Transactions at the Various District Offices. Several citizens of Georgetown have asked the commissioners as to the right of the Metropolitan Street Railroad company to use their present frame stables contrary to the building laws. When the stables were erected they were outside the fire limits. The commissioners afterward granted a permit to the company to leave their frame stables signding for five years. The five years expired in 1872. No further permit was granted, and in 1852 the fire limits were extended beyond the stables. The citizens' protest was forwarded to the company.

TWO MONTE MEN.

Story of the Man Whom They Tried to Make a Victim, But Who Wouldn't be Caught. In the case of William D. Miller and Lewis Leroy, the two alleged monte men, in the police court yesterday, Mr. Russell, a Virginia farmer, whom they attempted to make a victim, said he was first approached by Miller at Newark, Ohio, who was very kind Miller at Newark, Ohio, who was very kind and gained his confidence. Leroy subsequently came into the car and pretended to be a Kentucky cattle drover, who had been swindled by mente men, and had stolen the cards. The men tried to get Russell to put up one of his watches, of which he had two, or some money, but he would not. He saw the two men waiting for him on the hall the results for the property when the transfer for him on the platform when the train arrived in this city, and becoming alarmed, as he had $4,000 with him, he went to Baitimore, from which city he was brought back as a witness by Detective J. F. Ryan, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company. Officer Quinlan testified that a three card monte outfit and a dirk was found on the de-fendants when he arrested them.

The counsel asked the court to dismiss the charge of concealed weapons, on the ground that the defendant was a traveler. "I dethat the defendant was a traveler. "I de-cline to give him the benefit of that," said the court, "for I think such people would cut a throat or pick a pocket as soon as they would practice their thieving game." In dis-posing of the case the court said he "would impose the most contemptible penalty in the district—$20 bonds each." A fine of $50 was imposed on Miller for carrying the dirk.

Thrown Against a Cab. Some four months ago, while doing some shifting, I was thrown against the cab of my engine and my back was severely injured. It affected my kidneys, and I was at the time in such pain that I had to let my fireman take the engine. I found after getting home that my water was affected from the strain and was almost the color of blood. My wife ad-vised me to use Hunt's Remedy, which we had used before for other troubles. I sent to Bissell's drug store for a bottle, and after using it a short time the pains in my back and kidneys were fast disappearing. The second bottle cured me completely, and I can most heartily recommend Hunt's Remedy to the many of my railway companions that I find are troubled so much with kidney troubles. Respectfully yours,

FARMER TALKS. I have been troubled for a number of years with kidney and liver troubles, severe pains in back, with loss of appetite and vigor generally. My kidneys were very weak at times, with non-retention of urine, and a brick dust deposit. I used several medicines, but they did me only a temporary good. I was recom-mended to use Hunt's Remedy, and I pur-chased a bottle in Rome, N. Y., and found that the first bottle gave me great relief. I had less pain in the back, my water became more natural, passed better, and needed less attention, and after using four (4) bottles I find that it has completely cured me of my kidney and liver trouble, and consider it a wonderful medicine, and have recommended
